

I applaud our attorney general for protecting the privacy in our own homes. If there is any place that a citizen should feel safe and secure from other prying into their personal lives it should be in their private homes. They should be free of solicitation call of all kinds, including charitable, insurance, and all others. This should, of course, apply to email. The U.S. Constitution addresses the protection of home privacy and that we be safe in a person, places, and things. Banning home calls for solicitations by the State of Indiana and the Federal Government has been a blessing. Thank you for allowing my comments.
